

Pt 1/Verses 1 and 2

Solstice Station, it was last train home
December got her cold spell in my bones
Can't explain, it was my domain
Ghost railyard in the freezing rain

Don't you wanna see the sky turn gold?
Don't you wanna be where the Solstice goes?

Solstice station, taste the freighter's dust
Rust paint through the exhaust *
Don't fight the permafrost, cause
Your way home was winter's cost

Don't you wanna see the sky turn gold?
Don't you wanna be where the Solstice goes?

Bridge

Solstice Station, damned hesitation
Me and winter, we stood there waiting
Welcome the next freight, the Amarillo Starlight
Me, thinking, could I follow her to the sunlight
No train home, one way ticket to a great unknown
One way ticket to the great unknown
One way ticket to the great unknown
Well, no way home, choose the one way ticket, choose the endless road

Pre Chorus

Don't you wanna stand in the holiday snow?
Don't you wanna stay at your only home?

Chorus

Running, yeah, down the tracks, to catch my nowhere ride
Running, yeah, shouting out, "Winter, save your goodbyes!
Right now, I'm out of this town, getting out of this town tonight!"
Fooled me then, I paid the price but can't nobody fool me twice!

Running, yeah, cause she's on my heels,
Running, yeah, but I feel her everywhere

(bass walkdown)

Outro

They say freighters aren't for riders, I say I'm king of the tracks
Ridin' on a crossbeam to infinity
Three cheers for industry
They say I gotta go but I'm never going back

They say I'm a stowaway outliving my stay, I say,
Off the third rail I'm starting to slip,
Just hangin' on by a fingertip
They say I gotta let go, but please help me, friend, okay...